

Domestic Violence Misdemeanor (DVM) cases will be rescheduled as follows:

- DVM cases scheduled for 02/08/10 will be heard on 02/23/10
- DVM cases scheduled for 02/09/10 will be heard on 02/24/10
- DVM cases scheduled for 02/10/10 will be heard on 02/25/10
- DVM cases scheduled for 02/11/10 will be heard on 02/26/10
- In the event that Court is not open on Friday, 2/12/10, DVM cases scheduled for that day will also be heard on 2/26/10.

Civil Protection Order (CPO) cases will be rescheduled as follows:

- If Respondent was served, the parties must appear in the assigned courtroom listed in the Notice of Hearing on the first day that the Court is fully open. If the Respondent does not appear the Court may grant a default Order or issue a notice for the Respondent to appear on a later date.
- If a Temporary Protection Order (TPO) was issued and the Respondent was not served, the Petitioner shall come to the assigned courtroom in Notice of Hearing on the first day that the Court is fully open to extend the TPO and reschedule the case.
- If a Temporary Protection Order (TPO) was not issued and the Respondent was not served the Petitioner shall come to the Domestic Violence Clerk's Office on the first day that the Court is fully open to reschedule the case.

Child Support cases will be rescheduled as follows:

- If the case is scheduled together with the CPO case, the child support case will be heard at the same time that the CPO case is heard.
- If the CPO case has already been resolved, a notice will be sent to the parties indicating the rescheduled date.
